Open Day and Night.

Woodward has five newspapers and Billy Bolton wants about four more.

A great man is made up of qualities that meet or make great occasions.

Let not thy mind run on what thou lackest as much as on what thou hast already.

In North Carolina the other day, while passing through a train, a man named Wheat was shot. Probably the passengers thought he was going to take a straw vote.

There are now 150,000 children in school in Cuba as against 30,000 under Spanish rule. Here is another dark forecast of what is going to happen to the miserable Filipinos under the benighted and despotic government of Uncle Sam.

A wholesale millinery house will probably be opened in Oklahoma City, one day next week. A large gang of men are working at the mill day and night. The big price of cotton and the unusually high price of cottonseed has given an impetus to all lines of business in the territory.—Oklahoman.

Men are not like guns. You can always tell when they are loaded.

The Baptist ladies have purchased a carpet for the aisles of their church.

The Hon. Dennis Flynn accompanied by Wm. Grimes, chairman of the Republican Committee of the Territory, and B. S. Barnes, the Republican Orator, passed through our city this afternoon, enroute to Granite where Mr. Flynn is booked for a speech to-night.

Stories in Youth's Companion.

In the 52 issues of the year The Youth's Companion publishes more than 200 stories, yet so carefully are they selected that they prove inexhaustible in variety, unending in the power to delight. The stories already in hand for The Companion's 1901 volume show that this feature of the paper will be as strong as ever.

Among the groups of stories will be one of "Old Settlers' Day Tales"—stories actually told at some of the gatherings of pioneers in the West. There will be four stirring "Tales of Our Inland Seas," picturing the adventures of the sailors on the Great Lakes; and there will also be four "True Tales from the Zoos," told by famous keepers and trainers of wild beasts. And this is only a beginning. We shall be glad to send Illustrated Announcement of the volume for 1901 with sample copies of the paper free to any address.

All new subscribers will receive The Companion for the remaining weeks of 1900 free from the time of subscription, and then for a full year, 52 weeks, to January 1, 1901; also The Companion's new Calendar for 1901, suitable as an ornament for the prettiest room in the house.
